Seal of Approval

June 3, 2015

Stowell Associates received its first accreditation by the The Joint Commission (TJC) in 2012 and in February of this year, we were re-accredited without contingencies. "I have rarely run into this: I have virtually no finding" reported our surveyor after spending two days with our care managers, caregivers, clients and leadership team.

"The care we provide is evidence based and personalized to meet the needs of our clients" explained Patricia Beem, RN, Quality Improvement Manager. Pattie went on to say "We share the vision of The Joint Commission to provide the safest, highest quality, best-value health care. I feel privileged to work at Stowell." Ms. Beem is responsible for the agency's continuous quality and works with every aspect of the agency's compliance with standards of practice in home care.

Ann Carns, author of the New York Times article, Seal of Approval for Home Health Care Providers <http://nyti.ms/1dYXQrV> wrote, "finding someone to care for an ill or aged relative at home can be challenging. Hoping to help consumers make those choices, some home health agencies are seeking voluntary accreditation by independent organizations."

Stowell Associates provides an exceptional level of personalized care. We invite you to consider the value of our model of care managed home care by linking to our Comparison Guide. <http://caremanagedhomecare.com/caregiving/>
